Church Women Object

• The members of Sacred Heart Parish Council of the Catholic Women's League are deeply concerned at the immoral, indecent and vulgar plays that have been presented on the television drama series Quest and Festival.

We strongly recommend immediate steps be taken to improve the moral calibre of the plays presented on these programs.

We would like to take this opportunity to express our sincere appreciation of the impressive ordination service televised last winter, as well as the Christmas Eve Midnight Mass and also the Catholic instructional radio series on Religious Period, Sundays at 2:30 p.m. — Mrs. M.M.L., Swift Current.

From Orbits to Operations . . .

• This is to tell you how much I appreciate the work that went into telecasting John Glen's orbit around the Earth. My work that day just went out the window. I never left my TV set all the time it was on.

Also, I enjoyed the open heart operation (CBWT March 28). The camera work was excellent and the commentary was good. Warren Davis did a good job (as commentator): My hat is off to him. . . . — Mrs. S.H., Winnipeg.

* * *

Impressed by Prof. Birney

• I was listening to your program Life and Literature (Monday, April 2) and I daresay I could not be more impressed by the acute frankness and moral and philosophic estimates of Prof. Earle Birney in his talk, "The Writer in a Nuclear Age." . . . May I take this opportunity to congratulate you on the very fine choice of programs.—L.G.R., Winnipeg.

* * *

CBC Fine, But Actors Too Dramatic

• First let me say I think Canada should be proud to have the CBC. It puts us in a favoured class as far as programs are concerned. Discussion programs are favourites of mine, and to have Bonanza for a western, portraying just simple goodness instead of so much violence is a great improvement, to my mind. . . . But one complaint I have: in many of the plays on Festival and others, the players, whom we love, are so dramatic in all their lines—and so fast in speech—that we miss too much of the speeches and the punch lines do not stand out. . . . Too dramatic! But the whole family loved "Arms and the Man" and "The Applecart."—Mrs. W.S.F., Emerson, Man.

* * *

For Whose Benefit?

• The reply of K.G.G. (March 31-April 6) to the criticism of Mrs. G.M. that television is portraying demoralizing themes seems to indicate a certain lack of logic. K.G.G. firmly believes in complete freedom of the publicity media and says that if parents do their job in the home, their children will very early discard the drivel, etc. With this appraisal of the parents' duty one can largely agree, although not without some qualification. . . . But the point, I think, is this: if properly home-influenced children will discard the drivel and bad programs, for whose benefit are they being shown? For the benefit (?) of the less fortunate children who lack parental guidance? Should a national publicly-supported body like the CBC substitute the mediocre, the drivel and the bad for the better guidance these youngsters are missing at home? Surely this is not a sound basis.

Let us be realistic and not abdicate the responsibility of the adult to see to it that the coming generation is guided in the best proper channels. . . . No matter how it is portrayed on the screen, presenting "bad" character and morals on TV or the stage gives it an air of glamour to some extent and at least suggests that it is acceptable.—H.R.G., Saskatoon.

• Your programs are corrupt. And, because you attack the morals of our youth you are despised of God. In due course He will destroy you and the nation, as your teaching is becoming most successful.

K.G.G. of Regina says parental teaching can overcome all filth. . . . The point is, all people are not as smart as K.G.G. and he is only quoting the Devil, whom he serves.

He also expects young people to become corrupt first, and decide afterwards to stay pure. "Drown yourself first and afterwards stay away from water."—A.K., Snowflake, Man.

Opera Received Enthusiastically

• Last week we heard Nona Mari of Winnipeg sing Russian and Italian operatic arias over the radio (CBC Winnipeg Orchestra, March 26). This was received with tremendous enjoyment unanimously by the local Russian-speaking community. It is hoped that the performance will be repeated soon.—Mrs. I. A., Montreal.

* * *

A Chance for Canadians

• My husband and I have just finished listening to Heritage with Eleanor Collins and her sister (Sunday, April 1) and we certainly enjoyed it. . . . Eleanor is black and I am white, but I cannot see why, when we have such a great artist here in Canada that we bring in so many from across the line. (I am also half American and have nothing against the Americans as a nation—I feel they are one with us). But my point is, why can't we give our own a chance, no matter if they are black or white, if they have it. Which Eleanor certainly has. . . —Mrs. D.L.H., Regina.

Dislikes Commercials

• It seems to me the time is long overdue for a protest of the great length and frequency of advertisements on every TV program.

Many of the programs are excellent but our enjoyment of them is spoiled by the stupid advertising.

Now, I read that the Board of Broadcast Governors is suggesting that further time be given to advertisements. If this request is granted, one-fifth of every hour will be fouled up with this annoyance.

I am only one of many who feel it is time we had fewer and shorter shouts for every saleable product. . . . I realize they help pay for the programs, but I for one would sooner pay something to have the advertisements banned from TV and let us enjoy the programs without interruption. — Mrs. E.W.A.M., Winnipeg.

Likely this reader will have heard by now that at recent hearings in Winnipeg, the CBC opposed an increase in commercial time from seven to twelve minutes per hour. We agree that an increase of some 70 per cent in the time allotted to commercials on television would be excessive.

Another point: not every CBC program is available for sponsorship. We have a strictly-followed rule that none of our public affairs, news, religious, or otherwise controversial programs can have commercial content.

OPERA LOVERS WHO ARE enjoying the final performance of the Metropolitan Opera's season this Saturday, April 21, have more to look forward to soon on the CBC.

Sunday, May 6, on CBC-TV, "Savitri," an opera by Gustav Holst, will be seen on the Concert series. The production is unique in that it is the first television opera handled at CBC Winnipeg. Nona Mari, Gerald Loewen and Robert Publow sing the major roles. More details will be carried in the next two issues.

SPEAKING OF SONG and singers, one of the world's most noted contraltos, Marian Anderson, will be among those heard on Edith Fowke's Folk Song Time Sunday, April 22 at 3:30 p.m. on CBC Radio. Then the following Sunday, April 29, Venture, also on radio, will feature the stirring story of Miss Anderson's life in an hour-long documentary.

IGOR STRAVINSKY, contemporary composer and conductor, has accepted an invitation to conduct the CBC Symphony Orchestra April 29 at Massey Hall, Toronto, in a program highlighted by his own music. The concert will be recorded for presentation May 2 on CBC Wednesday Night, 8:30 p.m.

This will be the noted musician's second trip to Toronto this year from his home in Hollywood. Last January he visited the CBC production centre to prepare three programs, two of them still to be broadcast. On January 21, Robert Craft, his musical assistant, conducted the CBC Symphony in a radio program of Stravinsky's works. CBC Radio is to present another program, featuring interviews with Stravinsky, on his 80th birthday next June. And a special CBC-TV program will be presented June 18 on Festival, also commemorating the great musician's birthday.

FOR GRIPPING DRAMA, it's hard to beat authentic "cloak and dagger" stories. Three plays written by a former British undercover agent are featured the next three weeks on Vancouver Theatre, Thursday afternoons, under the title "Web of Resistance."

The first story, subtitled The Gentle Enemy, will be followed on May 3 by The Sten Gun Marriage and on May 10 by The Long Drop.

The series is written by Geoff Spencer, now living in Vancouver, who during World War Two was a member of the British S.O.E.—Special Operations Executive—a group not well known even today. S.O.E. was formed in 1940 on orders from Sir Winston Churchill to foster the resistance movement and sabotage the enemy by whatever means possible. His actual instructions were: "Set Europe ablaze."

The group was quite separate from the traditional British Intelligence.

The three stories, although fictionalized, are based as Mr. Spencer puts it "on fragments of fact" from his own knowledge of S.O.E. operations. The central character in each of the stories is Captain Alan Harris—played by Vancouver actor Sam Payne.

On Our Cover . . .

Nothing ever will erase the memories of the Second World War from the minds of Canadians—but time perhaps has dulled the clarity of some of the details of this great conflict — details important in the chronicles of Canada's emergence as a nation to be reckoned with.

CBC Television co-operates with the National Film Board in telecasting the series Canada At War, Wednesday evenings.

The THIRD DAY

Radio and television both share in this drama about the Resurrection of Christ

THE THIRD DAY, an Easter play with music, will be presented this week from Vancouver on both CBC radio and TV. It will be seen April 22 on Concert, and the same cast will perform it again on CBC Wednesday Night at 9:00. The music was composed by Dr. Robert Turner, the text arranged by Peter Haworth.

Neil Sutherland, who will produce the TV performance, says that The Third Day is based almost entirely on The Resurrection of Our Lord, first published by the Malone Society Reprints in 1912. In its original form it is a Resurrection drama, divided into parts or plays to be performed on different days. Of this entire production only four fragments survive, and it is on these that The Third Day is based. The author, obviously a Protestant, has been suggested as Bishop Bale, but this conjecture is based on nothing more convincing than a list of Bale's comedies which include two de sepultura et resurrectione Christi—Resurrection plays apparently written in the vernacular.

The date of the play is also uncertain. It has been placed roughly between 1530 and 1560, and can be described as an anonymous Resurrection drama dating from the first half of the 16th century. The text has been treated with considerable freedom as to sequence and arrangement, but the language itself, if somewhat clumsy and stiff, is always vigorous and often powerful, and has been left virtually unmodernized. In the case of the lyrics for the songs, which come almost entirely from the York-Wakefield Cycles, some changes were necessary so the songs would blend with the spoken text, which of course is much later in date. The Prologue consists of the first three verses of William Dunbar's Hymn to the Resurrection. The Epilogue is based on a Mozarabic Antiphon."

The television production will originate in St. James Anglican Church in Vancouver, the radio performance in the CBC's Vancouver studios. Hugh McLean will conduct the small orchestra and chorus. The role of Mary Magdalene will be sung by Audrey Farnell and played by Pat Williams; Mary Salome: sung by Winona Denyes, played by Mary Matthews; Mary Jacobi: sung by Katherine Fearn, played by Joy Coghill; a Centurian: sung by Terence Penner, played by Bob Clothier; Peter: sung by Donald Brown, played by Walter Marsh. Other players include David Hughes, Roy Brinson, Ian Thorne, Ted Greenhalgh, Roy Cooper and Derek Ralston.

Other Easter programs include The King Comes into His Own, which CBC Stage presents on radio Sunday night, April 22, at 8:00. It will be produced by Andrew Allan, who has prepared the script from The Man Born to Be King, an original radio drama by Dorothy L. Sayers, a television version of which was to be produced on CBC-TV on Good Friday at 8:30 p.m. The King Comes into His Own takes the Easter story from where The Man Born to Be King leaves it, covering the period from the Crucifixion to the Resurrection.

Shakespeare's MACBETH

*A production used earlier on the National Schools
Telecasts is presented in edited form on Festival
April 23*

Sean Connery

A PERFORMANCE of Shakespeare's Macbeth will be presented in the Festival series on Monday night, April 23. Originally produced by Paul Almond as a five-part series for the CBC's school broadcasts department last fall, it has been edited to fit Festival's 90-minute format. Almond will introduce the play, and during intermission will appear on camera to talk informally about his production, which is handsomely mounted with sets by Rudi Dorn and costumes by Horst Dantz.

In the title role is British stage, screen and TV actor Sean Connery, making his first North American appearance. Australian actress Zoe Caldwell, who plays Lady Macbeth, appeared at Ontario's Stratford Festival last summer, and recently in Festival productions of Shaw's "Apple Cart" and Fry's "The Lady's Not For Burning." Now she's touring Australia in a production of Shaw's "Saint Joan."

The cast also includes Powys Thomas as Duncan; William Needles as Banquo; Ted Follows as Macduff; Sharon Acker as Lady Macduff; Eric Christmas as the Porter; Max Helpmann as Ross; Gillie Fenwick as Angus; Bernard Behrens as Lennox; Robin Gammell as Malcolm; Raymond Bellew as Donalbain; Hedley Mattingly as the Doctor; Victoria Mitchell as the Gentlewoman and the First Witch; Natalia Butko and Jacqueline Ivings as Second and Third Witches; Larry Zahab as Seyton; Peter Needham and Jay Shannon as First and Second Murderers; Rex Hagon as Fleance; and Peter Tully as Macduff's son.

When Paul Almond visited England last summer he saw Sean Connery on BBC-TV, was greatly impressed, and later offered him the title role in Macbeth. Connery was delighted, for, although he is much in demand in Britain as stage, film and TV actor, he had done little Shakespeare, except for the role of Hotspur in a TV production of Henry VI. And he was anxious to see something of the source of the many CBC-TV dramas which have been receiving critical acclaim in British TV showings. Unfortunately, he says, Macbeth kept him so busy—he plunged into rehearsals immediately on arriving in Toronto—that he had little opportunity to see much outside the studio. "Next time," he says, "I'll arrive with a few days to spare."

Connery was born in Edinburgh. He joined the Royal Navy at 16. Before making his professional acting debut in the road production of a musical starring Anna Neagle, he was an art college student, a truck driver, a life guard, a newspaper man, and waiter in an English pub.

When the musical ended its tour he headed for London, found a job as a sailor in the West End production of South Pacific, played a couple of bit parts just before the London run ended, and had a supporting role in the road company. Then he returned to London. The enthusiastic reviews he got after his appearance on BBC-TV as the boxer in Rod Sterling's Requiem for a Heavyweight (directed by former CBC producer Alvin Rakoff) started his career on the upgrade, and he became so busy as an actor that he formed a company, Sean Connery Ltd., to handle his business affairs, with his Irish father as director and his Scottish mother as secretary.

Connery has appeared in several films, including Another Time, Another Place with Lana Turner, The Frightened City with John Gregson and an RAF comedy On the Fiddle (soon to be released in Canada), and he will appear with several internationally-known stars in the new Darryl Zanuck film The Longest Day.

An American TV producer invited Connery to the States to play in a drama series, but he joined a stage company in Oxford instead. One of his most successful roles was as Alexander the Great in a BBC-TV production of Terence Ratigan's Adventure Story.

A NEW CBC-TV documentary series, 20/20, which will bring into focus a variety of interesting and unusual Canadians together with events around the world, under the sea, in the sky, the past and the present, begins Sunday afternoon, April 22.

First, 20/20 offers a two-part program called Voyage to the Arctic, a trip north aboard the C. D. Howe, a rugged, specially-built patrol vessel of the Canadian Marine Service which journeys through the Canadian Arctic waters for three months each year to administer medical and welfare help to Eskimos, and to drop off supplies at Arctic outposts.

The Eastern Arctic Patrol's first trip was in 1922. Its main objective is battling the spread of disease among Eskimos, particularly tuberculosis. An annual immunization program and transfer of Eskimos with T.B. to the Mountain Sanatorium in Hamilton, Ontario, have drastically reduced epidemics and pulmonary disease in the Arctic. On April 22 viewers will be given a glimpse of unspoiled northern scenery, and will be shown through the ship's hospital, dental clinic, and other facilities. In the April 29 program a boy is re-united with his parents after a year's treatment in a Toronto hospital, and viewers will see some Arctic residents being treated for ailments on board ship.

The May 6 program is a history of skiing, the focal point being the Canadian team at the World Championships in Switzerland this spring. On May 13, 20/20 tells the story of what supervising producer Thom Benson describes as "the crazy little railway line between Whitehorse and Dawson City." Pioneering days in Manitoba among the Selkirk Settlers after 1812 are recalled on May 20. And a great Canadian lady, the Bluenose, last of the sailing vessels in Canada's Eastern waters, is the subject of the May 27 program. While plans are afoot to raise the Bluenose off Barbados where she sank many years ago, other plans are being discussed in Halifax for building another Bluenose from the original blueprints.

An on-the-spot story of a submarine chase off the west coast will be seen on June 3. An exercise demonstrating modern submarine defence techniques, it involves three destroyers and one submarine: H.M.S. Grilse. Cameras on the June 10 show follow three Canadian soldiers on a border patrol exercise with U.N. troops in Egypt, and then accompany them on a night-time jaunt to Cairo.

The famous Oak Island mystery and the various attempts to find Captain Kidd's lost treasure off the Nova Scotia coast will be reviewed on June 17. Treasure hunters have been encouraged in their search by finding materials under the water around Oak Island which are not native to Nova Scotia. But will Kidd's riches be just beyond the next scoop of sea-bottom? Every so often a group of men will get some money together, rent Oak Island digging rights on a two-year lease, and dig furiously until time or money run out. Then another confident group will take over. But the mystery of where Kidd's legendary treasure is hidden is as baffling as ever.

Many other unusual programs have been lined up for the 20/20 series, including one about The Fish With the Golden Eye, The Slave Railway, The Last Voyage of the Viking, and a visit at home with the Vaniers.

"Say Cheese"

No Longer Phrase For Photographers

CAMERAS have come a long way since the days when their owners were content to line-up the family haphazardly, point a little black box at them, ask them to say "cheese," click the shutter, and later rave over the fuzzy, lopsided results. But artistic photography with the modern camera is not the bewildering science some amateurs may believe — it's really quite simple, as Irvine Brace points out every second Saturday on the "CBC Camera Club," heard on radio at 12.15 p.m.

Brace, who writes a Toronto newspaper column on photography, gives radio lessons in better picture-taking, developing films, and making good prints at home.

His assistant on the show is actress Jan Campbell. This Saturday, April 21, they will offer tips on photographing spring buds. They've invited a nature photographer to join them to discuss the importance of using filters to darken the spring sky, and of concentrating on close-ups for the most interesting effects.

Guests are singer Shirley Harmer and entertainment critic Nathan Cohen.

Perry Mason

Crime detection series based on stories by Erle Stanley Gardner, starring Raymond Burr as Perry Mason, and featuring Barbara Hale as Della Street and Bill Hopper as Paul Drake.

The Case Of The Counterfeit Crank. One of Mason's clients, an eccentric who throws away money, is accused of murder.

FRENCH TELEVISION HIGHLIGHTS

Channel 6—CBWFT

Special religious programs are featured this week end to mark the coming of Easter. Among the features on Channel 6 are, for Saturday April 21:

7:15—Croyance—A documentary by Hubert Noel on different aspects of religion as highlighted in architecture, paintings, music and religious ceremonies.

8:00—L'Art et son secret—Last in the current series. Professor René Huyghe, host, has chosen as subject for his last discussion: a painting by Gauguin known in French as "La Lutte de Jacob et de l'Ange" (Combat of Jacob and the Angel) one of the great masterpieces of art.

8:30 La Semaine sainte—Depicting some of the more outstanding aspects of religious ceremonies during Holy Week.

10:15—La Nuit de Pâques—Special ceremonies held in Roman Catholic churches on the eve of Easter and the celebration of the Resurrection of Christ.

10:45—Long Métrage — "Nazarin" (repeat) by Luis Bunuel, starring Francisco Rabal, Maria Lopez, Rita Macedo. Nazarin, a Mexican priest, harbors a known prostitute and in nursing her wounds, attempts to make her change her errant ways. His charity makes him an easy prey for the slanderers and he must leave town, journeying through barren lands and poverty-stricken villages, begging for his food and water. He is followed by the prostitute, whom he converted, and is soon joined by others—among them an epileptic hoping for a miracle.

Easter Sunday Features

The feature movie at 3:30 is "Le Général du diable" (The Devil's General) starring Kurt Jurgens, Victor de Kowa, Carl John and Eva Ingeborg in the biography of Harnas, commander of the German Air Force in 1941. Well-liked by his men, he was less appreciated by the Nazi party, in which he did not believe.

Music-Hall, at 8:30, will feature France's own and only Charles Trenet in a Canadian comeback, and the boys' choir Les Petits Chanteurs à la Croix de Bois (see Friday April 20, 4:30).

Théâtre du dimanche at 9:30 p.m. presents an original play by Tony Williamson: "Les larmes de Dieu,"

TALES and TRAILS of the YUKON

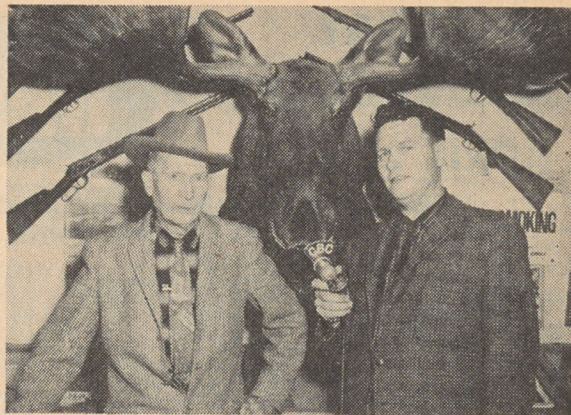

by DAVID CRUICKSHANK

At 6:45 p.m. Wednesday, the recollections of a Yukon pioneer, Bill MacBride, make a debut on CBC Radio—a new series to run 13 weeks

WRITER, YUKON HISTORIAN, raconteur, tireless worker and a most fascinating man. Any of these descriptions will fit White Passer Bill MacBride, who retired last September after 47 years with the White Pass and Yukon Route. His vast knowledge of the Yukon and his delightful anecdotes made him a prime target for every TV producer, radio man, reporter and feature writer who ventured to the Yukon looking for a story.

Bill stepped into this world at Butte, Montana, January 29, 1888. In less than three months his mother and father died and he was adopted by his mother's sister. Completing primary and secondary school, he entered Oberlin College, Ohio. After a year teaching at Rexford, Montana, and a business course at Blair College, he headed for the railroads and, with one short exception when he worked for a construction company, he has remained a transportation man ever since.

As camp auditor he worked on the O.W.R. & N. Co. and then moved on to the Southern Pacific Railroad in California. In 1912 he left the warm climate of the south and headed for St. Michael, Alaska, and worked as Secretary to the Manager of Northern Navigation Co. When the White Pass & Yukon Route purchased Northern Navigation Bill moved to the WP & YR superintendent's office at Whitehorse, arriving there May 1, 1914. On his retirement he was the last employee of the Northern Navigation Co. still in service with the White Pass.

During his many years of service he estimates he has opened the White Pass Depot doors 100,000 times and has made over 12,000 trips between his home and office.

Shortly after arriving in Whitehorse Bill learned that Barney McGee, manager of the Commercial Hotel, had been a pioneer conductor on the White Pass & Yukon Route and that he was acquainted with Bill's uncle, M. B. Miles, who had arrived in Dawson in 1898 via the Stikine Trail. Barney was

"A Businessman in Politics"

"I HAVE BEEN a member of a Town Council, a Municipal Council, a Territorial Legislature, a Provincial Legislature, a Dominion Parliament, and now of the Imperial Parliament. A varied and interesting experience, but I have accomplished, alas! but little." So wrote Lord Bennett, former Prime Minister of Canada, to his old friend, Lord Beaverbrook, in 1941, on the occasion of Bennett's elevation to the British House of Lords.

Whether the sentiment was meant to be one of disappointment or humility, the man who expressed it was beginning the last step in a remarkable career. Both that career, and the personality who directed it, will be examined on CBC Wednesday Night, April 25, at 8:00 p.m., in an hour-long documentary by Ramsay Cook of the University of Toronto's history department. Cook, who also acted as consultant for the program, based his script on interviews conducted by Marjorie McEnaney. Production is by Margaret Lyons, and Gordon Cullingham is the program organizer.

R. B. Bennett was "a businessman in politics," a lawyer who became a millionaire while establishing an equally impressive political record. But his life was sprinkled with political disappointments—he was left out of Borden's wartime cabinet, personally defeated at the polls, and left waiting at the doorway to the House of Lords for three years. No wonder some of his associates have said he really never liked politics—in fact he spoke sometimes of retiring forever. His Primary Ministry had to bear the incubus of Canada's most inglorious five years of this century—the Depression years of 1930 to 1935.

METROPOLITAN OPERA

La Traviata (The Erring One). Opera in four acts by Verdi. Cast: Violetta Valery—soprano. Flora Bevoise—soprano. Annina, servant—mezzo-soprano. Alfredo Germont—tenor. Germont, his father—baritone. Gaston de Letorieres—tenor. Baron Douphol—baritone. Marquis d'Orbigny—baritone. Dr. Grenvil—bass. Joseph, servant. Place, Paris and vicinity.

Act I. A lively party in the house of Violetta, who has abandoned herself to a life of pleasure. About her are light-hearted and high-living young men and women as careless as she. Young Alfredo Germont is presented to her and he at once succumbs to the charm of the frail but beautiful creature. She is touched by his sincerity. Feeling a new and pure love in her heart, she realizes for the first time the shallowness of her life and the moral ignominy of her position. Coughing spells indicate that she is a victim of consumption.

Act II. A country house near Paris three months later. Alfredo and Violetta are happy together. But Alfredo discovers by accident that Violetta has been secretly selling her possessions so as to maintain their establishment. Determined to end this situation he leaves for Paris. His father arrives and finds Violetta alone. He tells her that his son's liaison with her is injurious to him in the eyes of the world. Also it will prevent Alfredo's sister from marrying a wealthy noble who has made known his intention of renouncing her if Alfredo does not give up Violetta. Deeply touched, Violetta resolves to sacrifice her own happiness and leaves the house after writing a farewell note to Alfredo. He returns to the house to receive it and to listen to an appeal from his father. He then follows Violetta to Paris.

Change of scene. A salon in the hotel of Flora, one of Violetta's friends, during a fete. Alfredo again meets Violetta, now under the protection of the Baron Douphol. Unaware of her sacrifice he bitterly reproaches her and in the presence of the entire company flings the money he has won at the gaming table at her feet.

Act III. Violetta's chamber. She has returned home to die of the wasting disease that has progressed until there is no hope for her. Too late, Alfredo learns the truth. With his father he hastens to the dying woman, seeking to comfort her and to ask her hand in marriage. This brings to her a final gleam of happiness, but she is too weak to do more than bid her despairing lover a tender adieu. Death carries her from him as the curtains close.

FRENCH TV HIGHLIGHTS

translated and adapted for television by Berthe Lavoie. The action takes place in a little mining town, Lexton, Ontario, dangerously close to a raging forest fire. As the fire closes in on the community, its various personalities and characters are revealed in a desperate effort to survive.

They are Don Harper (Guy Provost) a mining engineer, director of Lexton Mining, who leads the town-folk in face of the menace; Jeff Waring (Yves Létourneau) district forest ranger, who gambles on Harper's ability as a leader of men; Andy Croft (Pierre Boucher), Harper's assistant, in charge of evacuation and a poor organizer; Maria Murro (Monique Miller), wife of one of the miners, in love with Harper and who has but one wish: that the fire will serve her selfish passions; Max Ward (Guy Hoffman) supervisor of the airport, who is faced with a grave decision: risk the life of his best pilot, or those of his trapped wife and daughter; Giorgio Murro (Jean Lajeunesse), Maria's husband, who has sworn vengeance on Harper for his wife's infidelity.

"Les larmes de Dieu" (The Tears of God)—rain— seems to be the only way out for the town and its inhabitants, but it is frighteningly slow in coming. This Sunday Theatre was produced for the CBC by René Verne.

Marian Anderson is one of the singers heard Sunday on Folk Song Time, in a special program for Easter Sunday.

"Chicago Black Hawks win Stanley Cup for 2nd year in a row."

That could be the headline in many Canadian newspapers come the morning of Saturday, April 21, which of course is very appropriate since that's the issue this column is to appear in. That headline of course would also mean that the Hawks had won it for the second year, in just six games. Which is a sneaky way of saying that's what I think will happen.

Now, with major league hockey out of the way for another season, major league baseball has taken over the sports' fans main course on CBC television for Saturdays.

As I write this "gem," the New York Yankees, who'll win the 1962 world series in seven games over the LA Dodgers, are preparing to open their '62 campaign at home against the Baltimore Orioles. Following their opener, the Yankees moved to Detroit for a big three-game weekend series with the Tigers, who finished second in the American League standings at the end of the 1961 season, eight games behind the Yanks.

The Detroiters will probably (if they're in the race) finish just as many games in arrears of the Yankees this season. I base this courageous piece of prognostication on the fact that New York still has too much depth for any club in the American League, and depth pays off in the "dog days" of August and September. Another reason for picking the Tigers to finish as "also rans" is, I don't believe Norm Cash will have anywhere near the sort of season this time round as he did in '61.

Cash, I believe in 1961 was a "flash-in-the-pan." His overall record in pro baseball shows nothing to suggest the power and ability to hit for the high average and numerous home runs he managed last season. That statement should alienate hundreds of CBC Times fans, not to mention the Winnipeg Tribune's Jaxon Matheson, who lives and dies each and every summer with the Tigers.

As far as the LA Dodgers are concerned, they've been knocking on the door both years since their last appearance in 1959 and it's about time for another of those famous Dodger-Yankee series. Their young fellows will come through for them this season and they've plenty of good ones.

This Saturday, on the CBC-TV network, all of Canada's baseball fans will be treated to what should be a rouser between the Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees in New York. (Please turn to page 33)

Today he describes his arrival in the Yukon in 1914; repairing a stovepipe on the roof in 75 below weather; building the Overland Trail (Yukon's first highway), in 1902; the hazards of operating a winter stage-line and horses lost in floods; horses breaking through the ice and drowning; and salvaging a 40 gallon barrel of whisky.

TALES AND TRAILS OF THE YUKON

behind the bar, and in his Irish brogue, shouted over to the assembled bar flies, "B'yes, here's Bill MacBride, a nephew of Murray Miles, and he is going to buy youse all a drink."

"Ten dollars was a lot of dough in those days," Bill exclaims, as he recalls that costly moment. "I never patronized the Commercial again until Barney left town."

Whitehorse was a nice quiet spot in those days. Doors were never locked and a sign in the reading room in the library read, "Last Person Out Please Turn Off The Lights."

"R. Lowe & Co.," says Bill, as he warms up to another story, "were wholesale liquor agents. Forty-gallon barrels of rye, scotch and rum lay on their sides with a wooden spigot and large tumbler in front of each barrel, and friends helped themselves, but never overworked the privilege."

In 1919 Bill and Miss Evelyn Tiskey, a local school teacher, were married. They have three children. Mrs. MacBride, like Bill, has always been deeply involved in community activities.

The Yukon has a wonderful friend in Bill MacBride, for he has been its greatest booster. Never one to do things by half measure, he founded the Yukon Historical Society, which is devoted to gathering and preserving evidence of Yukon's colorful past.

In 1955 the Museum, which was founded by this Society, was named the MacBride Museum as a tribute to his hard and imaginative work in collecting and documenting Yukon's history. Today hundreds of relics of the Klondike Gold Rush and other items are on display for the edification and interest of visitors, as well as historical research. Bill MacBride's tireless efforts have created a most valuable asset for Yukon by providing an outstanding tourist attraction as well as a Museum with an international reputation.

At various times he has held all the offices of the Tennis Club, Fish and Game Society, Board of Trade, and Yukon Historical Society. He has been made a life member of Fish and Game, the Board of Trade, and the Yukon Historical Society.

The MacBrides have retired to an apartment in North Vancouver where, Bill says, "I won't have to shovel snow or worry about the depth of stove oil in the tank."

Bill has brought his scrapbook and part of his historical files with him, as well as his faithful typewriter. He opines that in addition to feeding the squirrels in the Park he will continue to write stories of the Yukon.

Before leaving the North the CBC recorded Bill telling Yukon yarns and used six miles of tape in the process. Some of this will be on the air, under the title "Roads to the Yukon"—a road we hope Mr. and Mrs. Bill will soon take again.

Golf once again has everyone talking as a result of the spine-tingling three-way playoff in the Masters, between Gary Player, Arnold Palmer and Dow Finsterwald. Of course, the weather has something to do with the renewed interest after a long, cold, dreary winter. This Saturday, Vancouver's Stan Leonard discusses the slice in golf and what causes it plus how to employ it deliberately. (I thought K. R. was the only expert on the slice in golf but I'd give anything to get rid of it . . . deliberately).

For radio listeners, the three prairie CBC stations (CBW, CBK and CBX) will be offering interesting and informative interviews with well-known athletes and sports authorities. The programs referred to of course, are the regular Thursday night Sports Special shows at 6:45 p.m. Then, the more discriminating Saskatchewan listeners can dial 540 twice daily (7:37 a.m. and 5:35 p.m.) for unbiased reports on day-to-day happenings in the world of sports, by guess who.

The CBC Wednesday Night program will portray these "varied and interesting experiences" through the voices of Bennett's friends, opponents and casual acquaintances, as well as through the recorded speeches of Bennett himself, and the written observations of Lord Beaverbrook, whose friendship with Bennett began in the 1880's in New Brunswick. The voices to be heard include those of fellow politicians Harry H. Stevens, M. J. Coldwell, T. C. Douglas, Jean Francois Pouliot, and the Hon. Earl Rowe; journalists Grattan O'Leary, Arthur Ford, John Stevenson; assistant R. K. Finlayson; secretary Alice Miller; business and legal associates Everett Chambers, Murdock MacPherson, and Mr. Justice Hyndman; British observers Lord Citrine, Lord Swinton and Alan Pitt Robbins.

Ramsay Cook sums up Bennett's career and his prime ministry this way: "Bennett's greatest weakness was that he was a businessman in politics. It was a twofold weakness. First of all, his successful business career left him open to the charge of being a handmaiden of big business. This was a charge which, whether true or not, was readily accepted by the voters especially in the Depression. Bennett unconsciously strengthened this image of himself by his habit of dressing in top hat and striped trousers. He could thus be easily caricatured as a 'bloated capitalist.' But more serious than this, Bennett the successful businessman worshipped efficiency and rugged individualism. But politics in a large, heterogeneous community like Canada has never given the highest awards of electoral success to those who lack patience with the slow and often frustrating democratic processes. Moreover, Bennett had vast energies and a sharp businessman's intellect. These characteristics had helped him to win his way to the top in the business and legal world. But these same characteristics made him impatient with voters and Cabinet colleagues who did not move as quickly as he did. In short, Bennett lacked many of the characteristics which make a successful politician. He always remained the businessman in politics, quick to make decisions, anxious to get things done, but a poor judge of the public mind. Perhaps this, in part, is why he left his party so weak that it took 22 years for it to regain office."

* * *

This profile of R. B. Bennett is fourth in a current CBC Wednesday Night series of political biographies. Programs on William Aberhart of Alberta, Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario and Henri Bourassa of French Canada have already been presented. Scheduled for July is the final study, of J. S. Woodsworth—first leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation. The organizer for this Public Affairs series is Gordon Cullingham.

RECIPES FEATURED ON
"LADIES FIRST" EACH TUESDAY
ON CBWT AND CBXT

PUFF PASTRY

2 cups sifted flour

1 tsp. salt

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup plus 2 tbsp. cold water

$\frac{1}{2}$ lb. butter—firm but not hard

Sift flour and salt onto board. Make a hole in the centre and gradually add water, 2 tbsp. at a time, mixing in enough flour to make a non-sticky ball. Continue until water and flour are all used up, putting each ball on top of the other. When all flour is used up, combine all balls, working as little as possible. Cover and set in a cool place for 15 minutes.

Then roll out a rectangle of 12", place butter on this and fold over each edge. Then gradually roll out again to 12". Always roll in one direction. Fold over ends, one meeting the other. Turn the folded dough on the board so that the open end is facing you and roll again to 12" rectangle. Fold again.

Set in cool place for 15 minutes and then repeat rolling and folding. The folding and rolling is repeated six times. The last time roll out $\frac{1}{2}$ " thickness and cut into desired shapes. Brush with egg yolk and water. Put in cool place for 15 minutes before putting into 475 degree oven for 15 minutes and lowering temperature to 350 degrees for another 20 minutes.

CBC Radio International:

Open House for the World's Broadcasters

Each Friday at 7:30 p.m., CBC Radio listeners embark on a trip to many countries of the world, sampling entertainment and culture as enjoyed by their counterparts in such countries as Holland, Britain, Russia and France.

LAST AUGUST, when CBC Radio International made its debut, many people were amused by the first item on the program—a half hour of American jazz played by a German radio orchestra conducted by an Englishman with a Welsh name.

By now, however, such items are taken for granted by listeners to this Friday night miscellany of contributions from the world's radio organizations. People accept and enjoy such things as the Polish or Yugoslavian hit parade, an operetta from Hungary performed entirely by children, a talk on the recipes devised by the chef to Louis XV of France, and progressive jazz played by Japanese musicians.

Not that all the items presented on CBC Radio International have an exotic flavour. One of the most popular of its regular features is the quiz, "My Word," which has been a favourite BBC program for many years.

But usual or unusual, all the programs heard on CBC Radio International help to achieve one of the aims of the Friday night feature—to give Canadian listeners an opportunity to know a little more about the people of other countries by hearing the kind of music they listen to, the kind of plays and stories they like, and the kind of ideas that interest them. When CBC Radio International was launched, C. R. Delafeld, director of the CBC International Service, said, regarding it: "In this present era of shrinking geographic distances between nations, it is essential that the distances in our thinking be narrowed, too. This will only be accomplished if we can learn more about each other, about our individual traditions and way of life, about our likes and dislikes. In getting to know each other as we really are we may discover that we have more in common than separates us."

During the first 25 programs, the BBC was the chief contributor because of the weekly "My Word." BBC has contributed only three other programs, however. Germany has sent 18 programs, most of them musical. Only one of these 18 came from East Germany. Together, the Iron Curtain countries have made an important contribution to CBC Radio International, but none of these countries has been represented more than five times.

Other frequent contributors to CBC Radio International have been France (which contributes a monthly item, "France in Your Home"), Holland, India (which marked the 100th anniversary of the birth of the poet and philosopher Rabindrinath Tagore with several talks), and Japan.

Each program includes a Canadian item, prepared especially for CBC Radio International at one of the CBC's production points across Canada. This item is then made available to foreign broadcasting organizations through the CBC Transcription Service. These "Items for Export" have included jazz, recitals, and spoken word items.

CBC Radio International is a joint project of the CBC International and National Services. Helmut Blume of the I.S. and CBC Montreal producer Ramona Randall compile the program.

Announcer Paul Hecht is host. The program is heard on the full Trans-Canada Network of the CBC every Friday from 7:30 to 10:00 p.m.
